ABOUT RARE BEAUTY

- Founded by Selena Gomez in 2020 as an inclusive cosmetics brand.
- Mission: Redefine beauty standards through inclusivity, accessibility, and mental health advocacy.
- Known for accessible packaging — rounded, easy-grip caps and flat push mechanisms designed for users with dexterity challenges.
- Best sellers: Soft Pinch Liquid Blush, Liquid Touch Weightless Foundation, Eau de Parfum in Vanilla.
- Committed to accessibility-first product design, empowering users often overlooked by the beauty industry.
- Home of The Rare Impact Fund, which allocates a portion of sales to mental health initiatives.
- Brand ethos: Promote self-expression without barriers, celebrate individuality, and design with empathy.

RARE BEAUTY'S MISSION

WE ARE ON A MISSION TO HELP EVERYONE CELEBRATE THEIR INDIVIDUALITY BY REDEFINING WHAT BEAUTIFUL MEANS. WE WANT TO PROMOTE SELF-ACCEPTANCE AND GIVE PEOPLE THE TOOLS THEY NEED TO FEEL LESS ALONE IN THE WORLD.

OUR VISION IS TO CREATE A SAFE, WELCOMING SPACE IN BEAUTY—AND BEYOND—THAT SUPPORTS MENTAL WELL-BEING ACROSS AGE, GENDER IDENTITY, SEXUAL ORIENTATION, RACE, CULTURAL BACKGROUND, PHYSICAL OR MENTAL ABILITY, AND PERSPECTIVE.

ACCESSIBLE PACKAGING IN BEAUTY: KEY STATS / INFOGRAPHIC

- <5% of beauty/personal-care products are designed with accessible features for blind/low-vision or low-dexterity users.
- Despite 2.2 billion people globally living with vision impairment, only a handful of beauty brands have accessible packaging.
- Braille on packaging remains rare
- Consumer impact:
 - 74% of visually impaired adults say poor packaging leads to grabbing the wrong product.
- 51% report wasted purchases due to inaccessible packaging.
- 81% believe brands should be required to make packaging more accessible.
- Market trend: accessible beauty packaging is a small but growing sector (~$2B market globally in 2024).
- Industry gap: No comprehensive standard exists — highlighting an urgent need for universal design in cosmetics.

If the beauty industry has shown us anything over the last few decades, it's that makeup is for everyone. People of all genders, skin tones, ages, sexual orientations, and abilities are able to experience the power of transformation — whether that comes from throwing on some red lipstick at the office or experimenting with glitter cut creases for a TikTok tutorial. And, despite makeup being

CAMPAIGN ACTIVATION

LAUNCH EVENT: BEAUTY WITHOUT BARRIERS

Rare Hair invites guests—both blind/low-vision consumers and sighted attendees—to a multi-sensory, interactive celebration of accessible hair care. The event combines tactile product experiences, education, live demos, celebrity activations, and social engagement to immerse participants in Rare Hair’s mission of inclusivity, self-expression, and empowerment.

PARTNERSHIP WITH LOW VISION NONPROFITS

The “Beauty for Better Vision” initiative dedicates 1-3% of Rare Hair sales to organizations supporting the blind and low-vision community, including the Braille Institute, Foundation Fighting Blindness, and Service for Sight. Beyond funding, the program invests in accessibility by offering free braille beauty workshops and providing tools like braille label makers and tactile learning materials. Rare Hair also commits to expanding braille packaging, improving screen-reader-friendly education, and co-creating content and product features with blind and low-vision influencers to ensure truly inclusive design.
